

New Attendance Record Set As English Institute Opens

With the largest attendance in its history, the annual North Carolina English Institute organized for three weeks of professional study and leadership training in an informal planning session held here early this week.

Organization of the Institute group as a self-administered council was effected with the election of the following officers: Richard G. Walser, president; Miss Ida Gardner, vice-president; Miss Maude Ratledge, secretary and public relations chairman. Mr. Walser, in opening the meeting, sketched the background of the Institute.

Voluntary study committees held adjourned meetings to plan their programs. Chairmen of the committees, all of which have scheduled one or more additional meetings this week, are as follows: composition, Mrs. Margaret Ertel; speech, Miss Ida Gardner; reading, Miss Helen Ratchford; creative writing, Miss Louise C. Smith; audio-visual, John Littleton.

Advisers meeting with the various committee groups included Dr. Hardin Craig, Dr. V. M. Mulholland, Miss Dora Jacobi, Miss Atwood Hudson; Miss Pauline Winkler, and Miss Eleanor Preston.

Work accomplished by the Institute committees will be incorporated in the published reports of the standing committees of the North Carolina English Teachers, which will meet in Chapel Hill during the closing days of the Institute session, July 1-3.

Attending the opening meeting this week were several officers of the North Carolina English Teachers, including Miss Lillian Parks, immediate past president; Miss Celeste Penny, vice-president and chairman of the control committee, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Suitt, secretary.

Mrs. Russell M. Grumman, is serving as co-chairman of the division workers, presided over last night's final organization meeting, held in the Baptist Church. She outlined the purpose of the appeal and gave instructions to workers.

Jim Phipps, who is serving with Rev. Kelley Barnett as co-chairman of the appeal, and Mayor R. W. Madry, who appointed the division chairmen, made short talks.

Mr. Phipps emphasized the point that not one penny of the money contributed will be used to conduct the campaign and that none of it will be used to purchase food for enemy occupied countries, which are being taken care of by UNRRA.

Mayor Madry stressed the view that "Americans can supply all the food desperately needed for overseas relief and still have enough for themselves; that Jesus Christ made each of us his brother's keeper and that millions of our brothers are literally starving; and that, since we are engaged in a contest with Russia to see that the principles of democracy survive, we must bear in mind that such principles do not interest starving men and women—we must therefore help now those countries that in time would become our friends and customers. From a religious, altruistic or practical standpoint, therefore, we should respond generously."

The appeal is being headed up by the following division chairmen: Mrs. J. Edison Adams, Mrs. Ed Cameron, Mrs. W. A. McKnight, Mrs. S. T. Emory, Mrs. John B. Woosley, Mrs. D. D. Carroll, Mrs. Nestore DiCostanzo, Mrs. J. B. Linker, Mrs. W. T. Mattox, Mrs. Alexander Cox, Mrs. Kenneth Ness, Mrs. Jim Phipps, and V. A. Hill.

tinuous line before the well, and never before or since in the well's history has it come so dangerously close to being drunk dry.

When Edwin A. Alderman became president of the University in 1896 he decided that since the well had served for 132 years it should be beautified. There was a considerable amount of opposition to this idea, but nevertheless he succeeded in having the structure built.

Well a "Gegaw"

A letter written by Dr. Alderman in 1923 somewhat explains his methods. "A very distinguished professor," Alderman wrote, "intimated broadly to me that I was foolish to spend money (about $200) for such luxurious gewgaws when so many vital things cried for improvement. I recall intimating to my colleague that he would do well to attend to his own damn business."

The well as it stands now is copied in the main from France's famous Temple of Love, but as Alderman describes, "Our little well is a sort of sixth cousin of a Greek shrine, or a third cousin of the Temple of Vester or a second cousin of the Temple of Versailles."

Waterworks Come to Town

In 1902 the water works and sewage system was completed and the well as a source of water supply became obsolete, but its life continued as the social center of the campus.

It served as a billboard, a meeting place and in former days large audiences gathered before it in amphitheatre fashion for commencement programs. It has become a symbol constantly associated with the University in magazines and in memories.

In the words of Dr. Alderman, "The whole well incident, the building of the little temple, was a pitiful, yet beautiful, illustration of the way democracy cries out for beauty to give it backbone—spiritual backbone—that that will make it so strong that it can defy self-gratification, mobs, and red terrorists."

LEGISLATURE

A resolution to pay tribute to Douglass Hunt for his leadership in 1945-46 was passed, entitling him to the highest honorary key given for such work.

Sara Tillet introduced a bill providing that coeds be given one o'clock permission on Friday and Saturday nights during the summer.

IRC To Convene Monday Evening

The International Relations Club will hold its first meeting of the summer session Monday Night in the Roland Parker Lounge of the Graham Memorial at 7:30 p.m. All present and former members are urged to attend and visitors will be welcome.

Important summer plans will be taken up. Topic for discussion will be "The Vatican and Post-War Europe." All former members may be admitted without formality and application blanks for anyone wishing to join can be obtained at any meeting.

port for international control of atomic energy, formation of a United Nations Veterans League, unification of the armed forces, creation of river valley authorities modeled after TVA, a guaranteed wage of 75 cents, unemployment insurance payments to workers on strike, government control of industries where "enforcement of anti-trust laws does not force competition," restoration of food rationing in the United States to insure that it meet its quota for UNRRA, and a strong policy of price and rent control.

The convention opposed an American alliance or bloc against the United Kingdom or Russia and was against the veteran's bonus. It recommended the continuance of OPA.

The local chapter meets every Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Presbyterian Church. All veterans are invited to attend. Mr. Winston Broadfoot is the present chairman of the committee.
